BULLS CONTROL

Buying Professional and Protective According to the Reports.

WHOLE LIST ON UP GRADE

HARRIMAN ISSUES AT HEAD OF PROCESSION.

New York, May 6.-Prices of stocks were advanced again today, with every evidence of effective control of the market on the part of advocates of higher prices. The buying was called largely professional and protective, although the persistence of the advance has had the effect of inviting some outside participation. Apparently some demand remains to be satisfied from the uncovered short interest, also in spite of the heavy purchases for that account which have followed the considerable rise in prices and the bear failures at the stock exchange, which served to sharpen the demand from the shorts. It is evidence that bear operthe shorts. It is evidence that bear operations have followed the advance in the expectation that it would culminate, and these afford fresh sustaining force for the market, as the rise compels their cov-ering. Various railroad and industrial stocks today touched the highest prices of the year. The transcontinental group offered conspicuous examples.

offered conspicuous examples.

The market revolved about the Harriman Issues to a large extent. The report during the day that the Union Pacific directors were to meet tomorrow pointed to immediate prospect of the bond issue authorized by the stockholders May 5. It is a very common assumption that extensive measures are being used to foster. tensive measures are being used to foster the strength in the stock market in preparation for this bond issue. Advancing prices for stocks whet the appetite for new issues, whether of stocks or bonds. Additional sales today of New York City revenue bonds on a 3½ per cent interest basis, compared with 3¾ per cent for the first portion of the issue, indicated the favoring conditions for the new capital issues.

The process of realizing profits in new issues was accompanied by some irregularity of price movement in the regular bond movement. There was nothing in the money market to account for this or o seem to threaten the success of the 'nion Pacific bond issue for lack of abundant money supplies. Discount rates were inclined to yield both in London and Paris and a rise in the sterling exchange rate at Paris was a measure of the re-laxation of the demand from that cen-ter on London for gold. The strength of the stock market was by no means uniform, nor did it spread through the list until after a period of irregularity and Copper rose in London, and the Amer ican Smeiting company advanced the price of lead here. Some buying of stocks was based on the expectation that the government report on crop conditions to be given out on Friday will prove very favorable. Determined support was extended to the market up to the end of the day.
